Senior Citizens May Get Reduced Rates for Golf

The possibility of establishing reduced rates for senior citizens at county golf courses is being explored by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

Hahn has asked the County Department of Parks and Recreation and the Chief Administrative Officer to report on reduced rates for persons over 62 during periods when golf courses get the least play.

Tickets Available For 'Battle'

The theme "1001 Nights" will pervade the Lomita Recreation Center, Friday, Jan. 5, when the second Battle of the Bands will take place. Those attending should not be surprised to see the silhouettes of camels, elephants, and minarets adding to the evening's atmosphere.

Listed among participating bands are "The Shades of Gray," "Absolutely Free," and "The Sentries," all winners of the first battle of the bands.

Tickets may be purchased at the Lomita Recreation Center office or at the door. Those desiring further information may contact the center, 24428 Eshelman Ave.

This would be Mondays through Fridays after noon except on legal holidays.

"The game of golf provides excellent recreation and exercise for thousands of senior citizens in Los Angeles County," Hahn said. "However, many older people living on fixed incomes find it too expensive to play on county courses."

Although county courses are heavily played during the weekends, there are usually ample starting times available Mondays through Fridays when the retired person is able to play," he noted.
